Canada's Goal Set For 1970

'Blunt' Message By Economists

OTTAWA (CP)-Strong, well-balanced expansionary policies to send Canada booming efficiently into the 1970s were urged today in the first report by the new and authoritative Economic Council of Canada.

The 80,000-word report, Can-ada's first venture in advisoryboard economic planning, said bluntly that the country has fallen well shorf of its economic potential in recent years. It set this potential for 1965-70, as a target rather than a foreoutput from 1963 to 1970, with a gain of more than 20 per cent in real per-capita income. This would mean an economic growth rate of 5.5

per cent a year, or 3.4 per cent in per capita terms. Unemployment equal to three per cent of the labor force by 1970, as a realistic medium-term goal. It now is about five per cent. This about five per cent. This in seven years. Thus, jobs in seven years. employment would have to increase twice as fast in that period as it did in the 1956-63

per cent.
All this is the consensus of the 28-member council, headed by ex + professor John J.

Deutsch, after some of the most painstaking, intensive economic analysis ever done in this coun

Smiles From the Textile Wailing Wall

THINGS have been going so well of late for textiles was leaping ahead by 30 per that even the textile manufacturers cent.

Such an assertion is bound to be received with incredulity because the industry, as everyone knows, has been facing ruin ever since Confederation. As there is a possibility that it will again be on the brink when the government next engages in quota negotiations with the Japanese, ems worthwhile to call attention to this happy interlude before the gloom descends

The facts, some of which will startle the public, have been uncovered by a Toronto newspaperman, Mr. Norman Simon, Writing in the Telegram of the industry's four-year success story, he quotes such well known spokesmen as Mr. Dan Rosen bloom of the Canadian Apparel and Textile Patricia Bay area. Still another is Manufacturers' Association and Mr. William H. Young, president of the Canadian

Overlooked Good Fortune

There is an old saying that things are blackest just before the dawn. So, apparently, it has been with the textile men. Busy about their professional tasks; churning out propaganda, lobbying in Ottawa and waiting on finance ministers; they have somehow been oblivious to the trade recovery which, as it now turns out, has age of $30.6 million in the 1950s and of been filling their pockets with coin of the $33.1 millions in recent years. realm.

It is even more surprising to read that in the years 1950-54, when the ravages of Japanese competition were still in the future, corporation profits were only $26 millions. In 1960-64, while the industry with some help from "voluntary quotas" struggled against disaster, profits were

Since the Combined Opposition had campaigned for a full and free democracy in Pakistan, the Basic Democrats may well have supposed that by voting for Miss Jinnah they would be destroying themselves. They might have kept their present share in local government, but they would certainly have lost their function as electors and ceased to be the unique arbiters of the nation's destiny.

Anti-Feminist

Moreover, qualified judges here say the electoral college itself was in the end drawn from a particular social group— the one least likely to favor drastic change. It was predominantly male and so, in this Muslim country, inherently disinclined to choose a woman as president. It came mostly from the educated middle class, by nature inclined towards the status quo, nervous about revolutions and susceptible to the flattery of those already in power.

The Combined Opposition - which has just said it will fight on ean claim with some justice that Pakistan has not rejected democracy in this election. The system has never yet been tried here. For a number of reasons, no full-scale general election has ever been held since the state was created.

It was impossible not to like and admire many of the young Pakistani demo-crats who worked for Miss Jinnah, They truly believed they were fighting for freedom and it pained them to get no word of fraternal encouragement from any of the world's democracies. Even so, it was perhaps a good thing that this time

> But freedom in Pakistan is undeniably repressed by some of his ordinances. The country has been denied a liberal and intelligent press; the universities are not free to discuss political ideas. The danger is that society may become sterile under such inhibitions as these. This cannot be President Ayub's desire and the hope is that his success in the election will now allow him to relax.

Until now I've written no word in this column that could be construed as for, or against, a typical Canadian flag.

don't propose to do so now for I believe that no matter what our personal opinions may be, with the decision made, we should all close ranks and assist in promoting acceptance of the new flag throughout Canada.

However, I have run into a delightful story that has to do with the making of a Canadian flag and I'd like to share it with

It happened more than 67 years ago and, believe it or not, maple leaves were used to make that flag truly our own.

The story starts with an attractive young girl in Orillia, Ontario,

She had hazel flecked eyes that sparkled with laughter and long chestnut brown hair piled high on her head in the" fashionable style of that day.

Her name was Louise Thomson Currie.

It was June, 1897. Miss Currie, accom-panied by a chaperone, who was a friend of the family and not many years older than herself, was about to leave on a trip to Europe and especially to London for Queen Victoria's diamond jubilee celebration.

The two young women sailed from Montreal in a ship that carried a contingent of 250 Canadian soldiers, going across to take part in the jubilee parade.

Miss Currie kept a diary and in it she recorded that they made friends with a num ber of the "handsome" young men in uni-

When they reached London and were settled in "lodgings" that had been arranged em, Louise Currie and her chaperone set off for the Bank of Scotland and then for Cheapside to buy purple ties (evidently a jubilee celebration "must") for the "boys" they had met aboard ship. quickly despatched to Chelsea Barracks.

Next they went to Tottenham with the express intention of finding a Canadian flag to wave on the day of the jubilee parade.

The diary chronicles here that they could find flags for many countries of the world, but not for Canada

They were offered the Union Jack, to which they gave a polite "No!" The Stars and Stripes was placed in front of them. Miss Currie explained angrily that "the Yankees had no part in Canada or in the

Finally, in despair, they settled for a pure silk flag, four feet long and a yard wide, with the Union Jack filling all the space on the left, and on the right, a white expanse of silk, about 16 inches wide, with no decoration at

To this purchase they added a yard or two of brownish green sateen, then went back to their lodgings and sat down to manufacture a "flag for Canada."

From the sateen, the young women cut large replicas of a beaver and of two big maple leaves, joined together at the stems. These were appliqued on the white portion of the flag, the beaver at the top and the maple leaves at the bottom.

Next day, they carried that flag with them when they left their lodgings a little after six in the morning, to see the parade which was to start hours later.

When they took their seats, with six other Canadians, on the first floor of a building along the parade route, at 7:30 a.m., the flag was draped from the open windows in front

They waved it over and over again to punctuate their handclappings. "It created no little interest and excitement," Louise

Currie said in her diary. Weeks later, when the European trip was concluded and the two young women turned their steps homeward, the flag came with

Today, it and the diary, are still prized possessions of Mrs. William Clement, formerly Louise Thomson Currie, and a resident of Victoria for many years. Mrs. Clement, now in her 90's, lives with daughter Elizabeth, in a comfortable apartment on Cook Street. "I certainly wouldn't want anyone to read all I wrote here," she says now, as she turns the pages of that long-ago diary. Then her fingers touch the silken flag with its beaver and two maple leaves.

"But, I don't mind them knowing about the flag. After all, we were very proud of

INSIDE POLITICS

With Douglas Fisher, M.P.

Like most other MPs I have been "taking pulse" these past few weeks, especially in my constituency. Most people I meet seem more ready to express opinions than usual. Certainly, they are asking more questions. One can divide questions into two categories, ose dealing with personalities and those relating to issues.

Apparently John Diefenbaker is still the first personality in Canadian politics. Now the questions seem to project a strong hos-tility toward him. "Is he over the hill, physically and mentally?" "When's he going to pull out?" "Isn't there any way the Conservatives can get rid of him?" "Do you think he really believes in all that Red En-"Is Balcer the kind of man who could lead the party?

Repeatedly there comes question and comment about Mr. Diefenbaker which originates from the physical impression of his CBC television appearances. There seems to be a feeling that he's very old and very shaky and very confused. When I would reply that he does not make this impression in the House, I would catch a glimpse of doubt of either my objectivity or my judg-

Mr. Pearson seems to cause fewer questions and those one gets are much less personal. Frankly, he does not seem to excite " people or interest them the way John Diefen-baker does; therefore, there seems less hosbitterness expressed about the Liberal party than about Mr. Pearson. There is much more favorable interest in Paul Martin and, surprisingly, in Mitchell Sharp. Often a question came from businessmen: "Doesn't Sharp seem the man to run the country?"

* * Questions and snide comments indicate that the Lamontagne furniture dealings outranked all other troubles in hurting the Liberal government. There seems to be an expectation, particularly among pro-Liberals and anti-Diefenbaker people, that Lamontagne and Favreau will be booted out.

There is both less interest in, and more antagonism to, a federal election than I expected. Only the regulars in my own party seem pleased at an election prospect. What one might call the underlying population seems to feel it has had a surfeit of politicians and partisanship. Rather surprisingly, the known Liberals I meet are much more critical about their party's leadership and policies, especially as they relate to Quebec, than the known Tories seem to be about wanted it, the new flag is not much of an asset to any party. There is hardly any enthusiasm for it. A cynical relief exists among many, as it was put so often: "At least the damned thing's done!"

Perhaps it is only an Ontario situation, created by Premier Robart's ambiguous stand on the Canada pension plan, but this pension issue is disturbing many. What bothers people is the way the plan may affect them, as individuals rather than issues such as the ratio of funds for provincial investment. Sooner or later, almost conversation got around to the pension plan. There is no doubt in my mind now that its successful introduction is much wished for, but it is still mysterious or un known in its main aspects to almost every-

Many people seem puzzled about what is happened to Maclean's Magazine and the CPR. In the first case they cannot figure why all the young talent left and why the magazine has become so bland. With the CPR, the problem is a marked falling offin its standards of passenger train service and timing. This has led to a popular opinion that the CPR intends to get out of passenger service and let the CNR have it

To my surprise, the CBC's This Hour Has Seven Days seems to have a bigger and more favoring audience than any CBC public affairs show in my memory. Laurier ished villain with a Gordon Sinclair kind of status. One question was: "Is he really such an idiot?" Another was: "What's a silly chap like him do for a living?"

Are you one of the thousands of Canadians to get increased dividends again this year from Mutual Life?

Mr. James:

I'm happy to say I am.

Interviewer:

Did you know that this is the tenth time in the past twelve years that The Mutual Life has increased dividends?

Mr. James:

I haven't been keeping score but I know Mutual Life's dividend record is tops.

Interviewer:

This year's dividends totalling $17,900,000 represent an increase of $1,400,000 over the amount paid in 1964. And the interest rate on accumulated dividends has been increased. to 5%.

Mr. James:

You know, with earnings like that I might even consider increasing my coverage!

where the saints go marching in, sent 20 Negro pro football players marching out Sunday-right out of town and they took the American Football League's all-star game with them.

The 20 Negroes on the East and West squads, complaining that they had been dis-criminated against because of their color by urbon Street night spots and taxi drivers, refused to play in next Saturday's all-star game if it was held here.

"People shouted insults and doors were shut in our faces," said San Diego defensive back Dick Westmoreland.

AFL commissioner Joe Foss, "more disappointed than shocked" at the racial discri-mination charges, which forced cancellation today said the game would be played Saturday in Houston

Foss said he had "no recourse but to back the players, because they are members of the AFL family.'

Asked how he felt about the Negro walkout,

Foss said, "I feel they are justified."
Besides, he said, "you have 20 members of your ball clubs pull out and that doesn't leave you anything to do but cancel the game." The Negro players made up about 40 per cent of the two teams. Also withdrawn was the annual meeting of league owners and officials, scheduled to open

"The American Football League is progressing in great strides and the Negro players feel they are playing a vital role in th league's progression. They have been treated fairly in all cities throughout the league.

"However, because of adverse conditions and discriminatory practices experienced by the Negro players while here in New Orleans, the players feel they cannot perform 100 per cent as expected in the all-star game and be treated differently."
"Outside the hotels, recreational facilities and transportation were not available to the Negro players and service was refused," the

The game had been expected to draw about 60,000 paid customers. Another 20,000 tickets were to be given to while and Negro high school students.

Promoter Dave Dixon was shocked at the rapid developments that rocked this city's chances of getting a team of its own.

Dixon said 20,000 tickets had already been sold for the game.

Dixon's group in the last two years has brought in record neutral city crowds for exhibition football games and had no trouble with integration. His successes led the AFL to dule its all-star game in a neutral city for the first time in history.

Some of the Negro players were already packed and leaving their hotels Sunday morning when Dixon learned of the discrimination complaints. He and AFL representative Chuck Barr of the Buffalo Bills talked the Negroes

'Be Prepared' Is Boating Motto, Too

By Penny Saver

I know it's a little early to think about boating. But it isn't of early to prepare for spring and summer water fun! Nothing squite so exciting as spending a hot summer day on the water. The exhilaration of catching a fish—the disconsolation of finding but what you really hooked was the propeller and now you've aut what you really hooked was the propeller and now you've narled it and have to wait for an RCMP boat to rescue you.

Actually, there is no need to sit stranded while waiting for rescue. Browsing through one store, I discovered the perfect item to enable you to get rescued.

This is a two-way "walkie-talkie". I've tried it and had a lot of fun! Encased in a leather carrying bag, these little battery-powered gems are wonderful for boating as you can receive and dispatch messages up to five miles away.

Have you ever dropped your keys overboard while fishing? It's a terrible sight to see house keys, boat keys or car keys drift sedately to the bottom or be swallowed by a passing fish.

There's another problem which can be solved easily 'by simply using a floating key chain. The chain is attached to a foam-filled bulb. This can support a whole ring of keys. When dropped overboard, they simply float to the surface, bulb-side up, and the bright red color makes them easy to spot. A water-proof identification tag is attached, too, in case someone else picks them up. Price is 75 cents.

Boating can be made safer as well as more fun by these articles. The number to call is 382-3131.

A dinner in the Shamrock Room of the Harbor House Hotel at Ganges, Salt Spring Island, recently marked the silver wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Alan D. Hedger. The hosts were their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Laurie Hedger, and their daughters, Mrs. Winsome Bryson and Miss Lois Hedger. Also attending were Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Sampson, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. B. I. LaFleur, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Kirkham. Chrysanthemum corsages, to represent those carried at the wedding, were presented by Mrs. Bryson and Miss Hedger to their mother and her matron of Bryson and Miss Hedger to their mother and her matron of honor, Mrs. Sampson.

honor, Mrs. Sampson.

Following the dinner, 35 guests gathered at a surprise party in the North End home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Byron. Mr. A. M. Brown proposed a toast to the honor couple and presented them with a pair of engraved sliver propane gas candles. Dancing was enjoyed with music being played by friends of the couple. They were Mr. and Mrs. L. N. Loiselle, Mrs. Joyce Black, Mr. Malcolm Bond, Mr. Michael Jones, Mr. Walter Cantrill, Mr. D. Lamont and Mr. Terry Byron.

On the Loveliest of Islands Own your Private Beachette facing the Carribbean

Piped Mountain Water, and Electricity to your Beachette. AND NOW about MONTSERRAT BEACHETTES itself—to that private piece of land for your very own. Please listen to this: less than 4 miles from Plymouth the highway bridges the Belham River as it flows to the sea. When you cross the bridge you like driving alongife the fairways of our you'll be driving alongside the fairways of our new, spectacularly beautiful golf course, the finest in the eastern Caribbean. You have entered MONTSERRAT beating and fishing are exultingly tropical. On some islands one needs mosquito netting; not on our land. There are no poisonous snakes or insects. The island possesses the purest offresh spring water—soft, delicious and abundant (there is a waterfall running down to one of our beaches; stand under it and drink). And the things that grow here! Bannans, ecconuts, limes, almonds, mangoes, pineapple (the small variety needing no sugar and which has no equal in taste anywhere). The finest Sea Island To say that MONTSERRAT BEACH-ETTES is stunning is simply to say what's ETTES is stunning is simply to say what's true. Its 2½ mile sea-front is cliff interspersed by beaches. The property rises gently from the sea toward its highest elevation of about 450 ft. In the background are green-clad mountains towering to 3000 ft. The slope of industrials is so regular that no home on any site will ever block the view of another home! Macadam roads, contoured to nature, will front every Beachette. Electric and telephone lines are being installed and delicious spring cotton flourishes in Montserrat and we supply other islands with vegetables. We're famed for our tomatoes and watercress. And flowers! Colors run riot in the masses of wild orchid, flamboyant and poinciana. Every tropical water is being piped in from the mountains. Whenever you decide to start building your house you will find these improvements plant imaginable springs in thick profusion from the fertile soil. The sky is clear blue and the air pure and clean and healthful. One's eyes rarely see such color, such water, such already there. You must see the graceful homes that have been completed and meet the people who live in them—the personal quality of the neighbors you'll have. The golf course is yours to play and club membership is free to Beachette owners with no greens fees to pay for two full years! Our first beach house has been completed and we're planning one for each of our beaches. And those beaches, almost at your doorstep, are yours to enjoy. Is that the word, enjoy? When you see these crescent coves of sparkling sand and blue water, banked by almond trees and skies.

And what about civilization, you'll want to know. A perfect island to retreat to is what most of us want but we have been used to the comforts of modern living. Does Montserrat have schools, doctors, churches? Yes, and a hospital, newspaper, radio station, bank, harbor, airport. And shops. Plymouth, the neat little capital, is delightful. You can buy almost anything and the cost of living is joyfully low. Pish and meat prices are fixed by the sower. anything and the cost of living is joyfully low. Fish and meat prices are fixed by the government; you pay the same prices as do the islanders (beef, for example, is 59¢ a lb.). Scotch and Canadian whiskies are $2.40 a fifth, American cigarettes $1.80 a carton. We'll send you architect's plans of handsome houses that you can build on your land for $10.515 a sq. ft. and we'll find you the builder to do it. Montserrat has fine roads (and excellent service stations); a new car will cost $13.50. Even gasoline is no more expensive than in the dotted with palms, you'll be enchanted. Here, then, is where you may have for your very own a private Beachette, created by Nature and improved by man. Everything we've mentioned is included in the price-roads, utilities, water, golf club and beach club membership. The price-32995 for a nce stations); a new car will cost $1350. Even gasoline is no more expensive than in the States. Domestic help is plentifu; an experienced housekeeper-cook receives about $5 a week. quarter acre in MONTSERRAT BEACHETTES goes up $500. In a sense, this may not be altogether meaningful: we expect to be virtually sold out by March 29. But whatever Beachettes do remain will be more expensive after that date.

FREE Golf Course Membership! And with Macadam Roads,

We'll admit there may be pieces of land on We'll admit there may be pieces of land on other islands as beautiful as our MONT-SERRAT BEACHETTES. But it it's Jamaica or Barbados or St. Thomas we're talking about, land costs soar beyond the means of most of us, with beach-front prices as high as sites in Miami or Palm Beach, Nature gave lavishly to the West Indies, but she held back to These islands are or small; there is each oo. These islands are so small; there is so little available land. In the last few years there has been a phenomenal boom. People have discovered the West Indies paradises; jetstrips have been built and luxury hotels have sprung up. Consider this next sentence care fully: the island of Antigua, about twice the size of Montserrat and only 27 miles from our island, contains almost 30 hotels with more on schedule. Do you want to buy a site on Antigua equivalent to one of our Beachettes? The price might run $5,000-$10,000. Why? Is Intigua more attractive than Mor Ask anyone who has seen both islands. Mont Ask anyone who has seen both islands. Mont-serrat is surely more beautiful. The reason for Antigua's spectacular boom lies in its jet-strip, New York to Antigua is non-stop in 3 hours and 50 minutes; Toronto to Antigua is 4 hours 10 minutes non-stop. But bear in mind that Montserrat is Antigua's close neigh-bor, only 27 miles away. Daily shuttle flights set you from Antigua, to Montserest in 15. get you from Antigua to Montserrat in 15

Please think about it, then, Isn't it evident why little Montserrat, virtually unknown and certainly untalked about only a few months back, can now point with pride to MONTSERRAT BEACHETTES as far-andaway the most successful island development of its kind in Caribbean history? Isn't it plain that when you start with land as beautiful as ours, improve it with the care and quality we have put into it, and offer it at a price and on terms as low as indeed we have, that people would rush to buy? That is history; that is fact. And it is also fact that MONTSERRAT BEACHETTES is a small development, that when our last lot is sold you will then be able to buy only from Beachette owners who already are asking a good deal more for their lots than the price they paid us-and who ma on ask even more in view of our an

We are convinced that once to see MONTSERRAT BEACHETTES is forever to be in love with it. We want so much for you to see it that we guarantee this: you have a full year from the date of signing a contract to go to Montserrat to judge for yourself; and then to have refunded every penny you've paid in if MONTSERRAT BEACHETTES liasn't lived up to your most roma

But since most of you can't pick up and fly to Montserrat right away, why not let the mailman show you what it looks like? We have prepared what we think is a very inform-ative portfolio, including a brochure in full ral color. You will see MONTSERRAT natural cotor. You will see MONTSERRAT BEACHETTES as the camera actually photo-graphed it—real unretouched pictures of the property. ### BRIDGE LESSON - By OSWALD JACOBY

It is always worth-while for declarer to plan his play at trick one by using the code word ARCH where "A" is Analyze the lead; "R" is Review the bidding; "C" is Count your winners and losers, and "H" is How to make this hand.

NORTH (D) 11 ♦AKJ ♦QJ754 WEST EAST ↑ K3 ♥J109632 ♥A85 ♦107 ♠A32 ♦96 SOUTH ♣ A 10965 ♥74 ♦ Q 6 3 ♣ K 10 8 Both vulnerable North East South West
1 Pess 1 Pess
3 Pass 4 Pass
Pass Pass Opening lead-WJ

It is equally worth-while for the defenders to do the same thing. It is almost impossible for them to get any value out of "C" but they can change "H" to How to beat this hand and get some mighty good re-Thus, if you are sitting

Thus, if you are sitting East you note that your partner has opened the jacks of hearts against South's four spade contract. Is it a singleton lead? No! That would give South seven hearts. Is it a doubleton lead? No! That would give South six hearts and hearts were never bid

Thus you should take your ace of hearts and look or three more tricks.
Should there be a play to beat the contract? Yes!

North does have 19 high-card points and he has bid strongly, but South has not shown much except a probable five-card trump suit. suit surely. How about two club tricks? Most unlikely!

If your partner held ace-king of clubs he would have opened the suit. How about a club ruff? Now you have found your one chance. Instead of blindly and hopelessly returning your partner's lead, you play the nine of clubs. Your partner will take his ace and return the suit. You will have to follow this time, ALL TYPES OF FLOORS EXPERT.

Twenty years ago this April, former U.S. President Franklin Delano Roosevelt died, ABC-TV started a weekly documentary series about him on Friday and if the first episode is an indication of the fare we are to receive over the next 26 weeks then the network has

The program holds a special interest to Canadians who found the sident to be a friend. On a visitto Victoria, in the years just prior to the start of the Second World War, Roosevelt charmed thousands of Victorians who flocked to the precinct surrounding the inner harbor to see and greet him. His death 20 years whose destinies he guided from his position in the

The series titled FDR promises to be as complete on his life as yet brought to the eyes of viewers.

The program's edited footage consists of snapshots from family albums, home movies made by his daughter, Anna Halstad, and other material that has not been previously published or broadcast.

It also features the voices of Arthur Kennedy, Charlton Heston and the late Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt Kennedy handles the straight narration chore while Mrs. Roosevelt's true voice is heard describing highlights of F.D.R.'s life. She recorded her own lines for the series before she died. The intruder is Heston.

His mimlery of the president's voice detracted from the program's effectiveness and did neither himself nor the episode full justice. Fortunately, there is more to the series than the actor.

FDR follows the same lines laid down in the highly successful and never emulated Winston Churchill: The Valiant Years series,

Through his writings and his own recorded voice we will get to know Roosevelt the man much better. The first episode already showed us the witty, charming and driving young man avho, though his mother tried to dissuade him from entering politics, swayed those around him, including his mother, and began the steps which led to the White House.

"Whether you liked him or not," narrated Arthur Kennedy, "he was a rare one."

The program, whether you like it or not, falls into this rare category and deserves not only the highest of praise but also the avid attention of viewers over the future weeks.

TWO BITS: CRS-TV is interested in developing a series with comedians Marty Allen and Steve Rossi for next season . . . Hazel creators, hoping to freshen up the series, are thinking of changing the background, like moving her to Hollywood.

VOICE OF BROADWAY

By DOROTHY KILGALLEN

BROADWAY BULLETIN BOARD-Everyone expects the expensive "My Fair Lady" to romp off with the top Academy Awards, but behind the scenes, there's a schism that might be important. Of course the studio behind 'Lady' can afford all those trade paper ads that always help the can afford all those trade paper ads that always help the voters remember how great the picture was, but the creative crowds in Hollywood regards it as "a photographed-stage play," and they would prefer the Oscars to go to original screenplays adapted for films, not flicks that had their start on Broadway . . . When singer Counte Francis announced she would seek a divorce from bridegroom Dick Kanellis, after only a few months of matrimony, the newspapers recorded her decision as "sudden" but her because papers recorded her decision as "sudden"—but her best friends aren't in agreement. They believed the split was inevitable, as soon as they learned about the wedding. Fame and fortune have always been terribly important to Connie; one member of her family admitted "She isn't easy to satisfy.'

Doctors have told Nat King Cole's family that if he gets several months of cobalt treatment, they're hopeful he'll lick his affliction, just as Arthur Godfrey did. Certainly no one, since those suspenseful Godfrey days, has had more rooters; Nat is a delightful man, a credit to his profession and admired by everyone in it... The big difference between Bob Hope's Christmas trip to the fighting zones and foreign junkets made by far lesser union members: Bob's tab, approximately $500,000, will be picked up by the Timex Corp., not levied on the taxpayer.

The movie, "Sands of Kalahari," was originally scheduled for Elizabeth Taylor, then exotic Dallah Layl. But Dallah is determined to attend the hooplahed New York premiere of "Lord Jim" next month, so she said no. Now Elke Sommer is the best bet to get the role. # Canada's Goal Set For 1970

'Blunt' Message By Economists

OTTAWA (CP)-Strong, well-balanced expansionary policies to send Canada booming efficiently into the 1970s were urged today in the first report by the new and authoritative Economic Council of Canada.

The 80,000-word report, Canada's first venture in advisory-board economic planning, said bluntly that the country has fallen well short of its economic potential in recent years.

It set this potential for 1965-70, as a target rather than a fore output from 1963 to 1970, with a gain of more than 20 per cent in real per-capita income. This would mean an economic growth rate of 5.5 per cent a year, or 3.4 per cent in per-capita terms.

 Unemployment equal to three per cent of the labor force by 1970, as a realistic medium-term goal. It now is about five per cent. This would require 1,500,000 n ew jobs in seven years. Thus employment would have to increase twice as fast in that period as it did in the 1956-63

• Productivity gains of 2.4 per cent a year for each em-ployed person between 1963 and 1970. This would compare with gains of one per cent a year from 1956 to 1963 when the potential growth, esti-mated by the council, was 1.9

All this is the consensus of the 28-member council, headed by ex - professor John J. Deutsch, after some of the most painstaking, intensive economic analysis ever done in this coun-

HOPE, B.C. (CP)-A search for bodies continued today after gravity's awesome tug took away a mountainside, put a face of rubble on a beautiful valley, and in an instant killed four persons.

Volunteer searchers, mem bers of a rescue squad, found two bodies Sunday, the day after the slide smashed three PICTURES PAGE 3 vehicles and their passengers.

miles east of here.

It will take many weeks to restore the highway for public use, and no one yet knows the route it must follow. However, it is expected to be routed over the top of the slide.

Two buildozer operators working on the slide dashed for cover Sunday night when a big chunk of rock at the summit rumbled down the side of the mountain, but stopped far short of the road wall plunged into the valley.

BUS WHEELED IN REVERSE TO GET OUT OF DANGER

VANCOUVER (CP) - A quick-acting bus driver wheeled his bus, containing 18 passengers, at full reverse speed down a twisting highway to get away from a landslide threat.

A short while later the whole side of a mountain crashed down on the highway, crushing three vehicles and killing four persons.

David Hughes, 39, of nearby Coquitlam, said in an interview Sunday he came upon a small slide on the Hope Princeton highway 110 miles east of here. He was westoound, heading for Vancouver from the interior.

He was met by truck driver Norman Stephanishin and they agreed there was a danger of another slide.

Hughes backed the bus at full speed for 11/2 miles along the twisting, dark highway

I had my head out of the window, watching to see where the road was going and worrying that we might have another slide around us." After 11/2 miles he was able turn the bus around and drive back to a lodge. Hughes took over the bus at Penticton, B.C., where had come from eastern Canada. It was running 30 minutes late. He had gained 15 minutes of that time when he arrived at the slide.

He was waved down by Stephanishin, of Kamloops, B.C., who stopped his semi-trailer at the slide.

NEW YORK (AP)-Business men generally expressed approval last week of President Johnson's State of the Union Message.

The stock market advanced sharply as investors saw bullish implications in the president's ideas to bolster the economy.

Johnson asked Congress to make it possible for income taxes to be reduced promptly and to vote public works funds that the government can spend if recession threatens.

However, he predicted con-finued flourishing of the American economy."

"The president deserves the ongest praise for the breadth and optimism of his State of the Union Message," said Don-ald C. Power, chairman of General Telephone and Telegraph Co. "His message was an inspiring challenge and demon-strated his great confidence in the future.

TORONTO (CP)—A. A. Cumming, president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, to day urged a general tax reduction and repeal of the 11 per ment of a domestic crushing in the depression of the board of directors.

Maj.Gen. Odlum began his fournalistic career with the old Vancouver World and later bought the paper. In 1924 he bought the Vancouver Star, which later became the Vancouver News Herald.

Canada needs a tax cut, he said in the 30s, if currency becomes a on mominous threat to the financial stability which to invest, then the outlook could be bleak.

The 20 Negroes on the East and West squads, complaining that they had been discriminated against because of their color by Bourbon Street night spots and taxi drivers, refused to play in next Saturday's all-star game if it was held here.

'People shouted insults and doors were shut in our faces," said San Diego defensive back Dick Westmoreland.

AFL commissioner Joe Foss, "more disappointed than shocked" at the racial discri-mination charges, which forced cancellation today said the game would be played Saturday in Houston.

Foss said he had "no recourse but to back the players, because they are members of the AFL family.

Asked how he felt about the Negro walkout, Foss said, "I feel they are justified." Besides, he said, "you have 20 members of your ball clubs pull out and that doesn't leave you anything to do but cancel the game." The Negro players made up about 40 per fairly in all cities throughout the league.

"However, because of adverse conditions and discriminatory practices experienced by the Negro players while here in New Orleans, the players feel they cannot perform 100 per cent as expected in the all-star game and be treated differently."

"Outside the hotels, recreational facilities and transportation were not available to the Negro players and service was refused." the

The game had been expected to draw about 60,000 paid customers. Another 20,000 tickets were to be given to white and Negro high school students.

Promoter Dave Dixon was shocked at the rapid developments that rocked this city's chances of getting a team of its own.

Dixon said 20,000 tickets had already been sold for the game.

Dixon's group in the last two years has crought in record neutral city crowds for exhibition football games and had no trouble with integration. His successes led the AFL to schedule its all-star game in a neutral city for the first time in history. Some of the Negro players were already packed and leaving their hotels Sunday morning when Dixon learned of the discrimination complaints. He and AFL representative Chuck Barr of the Buffalo Bills talked the Negroes into meeting with sponsors of the game But the two-hour session did not change the Negroes' minds.

Capital Region Planning Board director Tony Roberts today promised to bring vital new material to the hearing arranged for North Saanich High School by Municipal Affairs Minister Dan Campbell.

Mr. Roberts, who opposes two proposed residential sub-divisions of rural beauty spots into half-acre lots, intends to present the North Saanich development problem in relation to Metro Victoria expansion

BENEFIT WHOLE

He said he will show how the whole capital region would benefit if development was regulated in North Saanich at present.

The hearing is expected to be the most important of several which have been held on the question of whether the CRPB plan for orderly development of the provin-cial territory of North Saan-ich should be officially adop-

Authority to enlarge Victoria city council may be asked this year as a prelude to creation of a metropolitan joint services board.

The suggestion is contained in Mayor R. B. Wilson's in-augural address delivered to council this afternoon.

A 25-page document, the speech was the first inaugural to be delivered in the city's new council chamber in Cen-tennial Square.

The mayor referred to letters from the municipal affairs department indicating the upcoming legislative session may pass a law permitting creation of inter-municipal boards throughout B.C.

They would allow munici-palities such as in Greater Victoria to band together to proturbing local autonomy-services such as water, sewers, garbage, parks, air pollution and health.
